Creating one of a kind pottery

Takeshi Togawa got into ceramics because he was looking for a nice tea cup for his green tea. Togawa san takes great care in choosing his clay, and works to bring out the natural beauty in it. For him, there is not greater joy than finding a good new clay to use.

Togawa san's goal is to make pots that attract one's hands as well as one's gaze, and that can be used for many years. Although he has a gentle gaze, Togawa san's passion is evident in his pottery. Every time he creates, he makes new discoveries. The more he creates, the more he realizes the limits of his knowledge. Still, he spends every day absorbed in his work, finding his voice and expanding his limits.
