▶Has been making ceramics for 30 years.

Humorous, affordable pottery

Carrying on in memory of her departed husband, Aiko Hashimura makes her pottery. Although his area of expertise was in tea ware, she excels at sculpture and specializes in making ceramic figures. Hashimura san is particular about preparing all of her clay and glazes herself. Although she starts each piece with a clear image in her head, the firmness of the clay will often alter the creation process, and in turn, the image of the final product. Because she is working with unpredictable natural materials, she can embrace these unforeseen changes with enthusiasm.

“In these times, I try to make more work that is affordable and humorous.”, Hashimura san explains, with an endearing smile. She continues to pursue originality in her work, unique work you won't find anywhere else.
